THE SITCOM Cosby is the top-rated show on the American network CBS. It stars Bill Cosby as a victim of 'corporate downsizing' and is based on our own One Foot in the Grave. But, says David Renwick, who wrote One Foot in the Grave, Cosby now bears hardly any resemblance to his comedy. 'They left it behind after six episodes, and I think it's astounding that I'm still getting royalties,' he says. Renwick has a consultative role on the series and is sent the scripts, though there is little point in altering them as Cosby improvises so much dialogue. 'There is,' says Renwick, 'no disputing his genius.'

THOUSANDS of 'Cable Guide' readers have cast their votes in the first 'Cable Guide Cable TV Awards', which are screened from London's Dorchester Hotel this month. The evening is set to be one of the showbiz events of the year – complete with glamorous stars, witty speeches and the all-important winners' envelopes. Your hosts are Julia Carling and Paul Ross. And they may be reading out their own names – they're contenders for the Favourite Male and Female personality awards.

BEVERLY HILLS, 90210 is back – and the kids with bank accounts to match their egos have finally grown up. 'They have all graduated, and are moving into an area of life that most young people in their twenties move into after college,' says veteran star Jason Priestley, who plays Brandon in the hit series now in its eighth season. But don't be alarmed – there'll still be plenty of broken hearts, lover's tiffs and steamy romances. In the two-hour season opener, the Beverly Hills buddies take a mini-break to Honolulu, where superbitch Valerie (Tiffani-Amber Thiessen) gets down to some serious hula with new hunk on the block, the gorgeous Noah Hunter (Vincent Young).
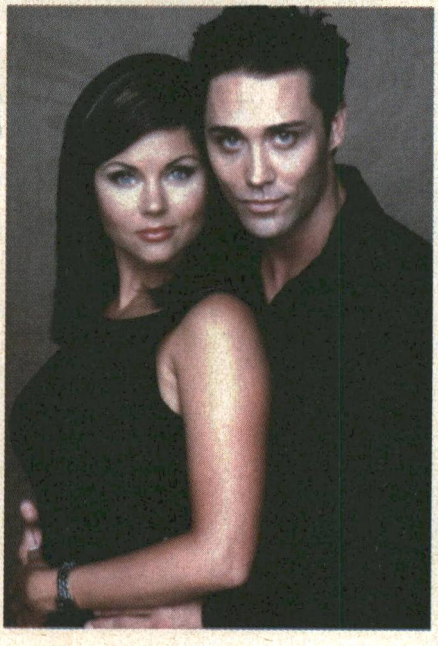
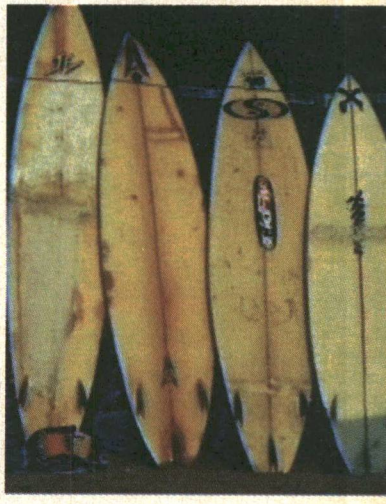
Sky One, starts Sunday 17th, 7.00pm





FOLLOWING in the flip-flop steps of fly-on-the-wall documentaries like Ibiza Uncovered and Caribbean Uncovered comes Hot Summer Downunder, a series following a bunch of gregarious Brits round Australia. The eight hour-long episodes focus on characters such as Brenda and Linda, two chirpy divorcées looking for a pair of hunky Aussies to marry, and the Mac Lads, a rowdy group from Macclesfield in Cheshire. The latter have a variety of 'interesting' New Year's Eve experiences – none of which bear description in a family magazine.
Sky One, starts Sunday 3rd, 10.00pm

NODDY HOLDER, glam-rock icon and lead singer of legendary Seventies band Slade, carves up another notch in his career revival with a brand-new series. Noddy's Electric Ladyland is an eccentric pop quiz with a spectacularly kitsch set apparently modelled on Elvis Presley's legendary Memphis home, Graceland. Among the many challenges facing celebrity contestants such as Nick Cochrane (who played Andy McDonald in Coronation Street) and How! presenter Gareth Jones (who claims to be the biggest Slade fan in the world), is the Feel-A-Lookalike round, a hybrid of They Think It's All Over and Stars in Their Eyes, in which contestants are invited to identify rock or pop stars by poking and prodding their lookalikes.

WE KNOW plenty about Vic and Bob, but what about their Shooting Stars scorer George Dawes? Well, his real name is Matt Lucas, he's 24 and his previous alter-ego was thespian Sir Bernard Chumley. Sir Bernard wore a wig – the same one Lucas wore at 11. Matt lost his hair when he was six and was subjected to 'all sorts of quack remedies' before he was given a wig. 'I had a hanky sewed into it because it was so scratchy,' he recalls.

The world premiere of a three-part series called The Future of the Car is the highlight of Future Fantastic, a week of programmes looking into the 21st century and beyond. The series flits between Europe, America and Japan, meeting the experts whose job it is to create a car for the new millennium, with Ford, Volvo and Audi among the manufacturers sharing their trade secrets. But programme one belongs to Chris Bangle, director of design at BMW, who suggests that the shape of cars in 2018 will bear hardly any relation to their 1998 ancestors. Reassuringly, however, it seems that cars will get cheaper and more efficient. Already, President Clinton has challenged a group called the Partnership for a New Generation of Vehicles to come up with a family-sized car that can operate at 80 miles per gallon by 2010. Perhaps if he hasn't been disgraced by then, it will be called the Ford Clinton.
Discovery, from Sunday 10th, 8.00pm

HUGH LAURIE and Roddy McDowall are among the guests assisting Tracey Ullman in her comedy series Tracey Takes On ..., which was aired to great acclaim on HBO in America and has won six prestigious Emmy awards. Ullman tackles subjects ranging from romance to royalty to death, using a repertoire of characters that stand comparison with the creations of Harry Enfield. She plays Trevor Ayliss, a gay British airline steward, Noh Nang Ning, an Asian owner of a doughnut shop, plus Ruby Romaine, a make-up artist from the golden era of Hollywood, now a drunken has-been. As for the real Tracey Ullman, she is anything but a has-been. She lives in Los Angeles and is married to the TV producer Allan McKeown, who used to be a hairdresser in Essex. Together the pair have conquered American TV, with Tracey Takes On ... and, before it, The Tracey Ullman Show, which will go down in TV history as the series that spawned the hit cartoon The Simpsons.

AMERICAN actor Dan Aykroyd was interested in the paranormal long before he appeared in the film Ghostbusters. Indeed, he comes from a long line of enthusiasts, for his English great-grandfather, Samuel Aykroyd, was a leading light in the British Society of Psychic Research. And now, having helped to persuade an organisation exploring the paranormal, America's Office of Scientific Investigation and Research, to release its files to public scrutiny, Aykroyd is pursuing his interest by hosting the series PSi Factor – Chronicles of the Paranormal. The series combines actual footage and reconstructions of paranormal events, and is produced by Aykroyd's brother, Peter. Aptly, it opens here on May 4th ... as in May the 4th be with you.

He'd have us believe his Batman was disappointing. Millions of cinema-goers would disagree. But then George Clooney's disarming modesty is part of his huge appeal. Interview: Garth Pearce

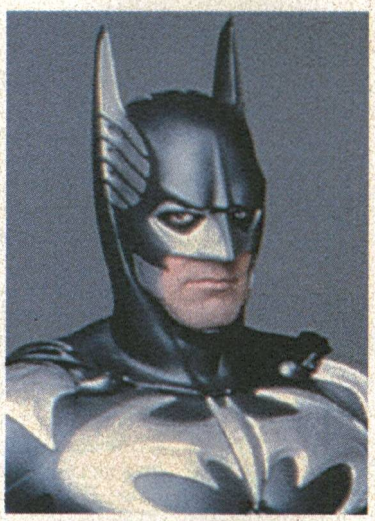
Batman & Robin
Starts Wednesday 20th



PREMIERE

GEORGE CLOONEY rolls his trademark brown eyes and pauses. It is as if he knows that he shouldn't be saying what he is about to say, but he just can't resist telling the truth. His role as Batman couldn't have bugged him more if he had had itching powder inside the mask. 'It was a personal disappointment,' he says, surprisingly, of the hit film. 'It's the only film I have done so far which didn't live up to my expectations.'

Not only is Clooney drop-dead gorgeous, he's also drop-dead honest. Ask a straight question and he tells you exactly what he thinks.

It might get him into trouble; more likely it's got him into difficulties in the past – which may explain his long and slow climb to the top, when looks combined with screen presence and talent should have guaranteed him a breakthrough a decade ago. But at 36, he's finally one of Hollywood's hottest talents. He won't hesitate to remind you that it's taken half his lifetime so far.

But back to Batman – or more accurately, Batman & Robin. It made a fortune and, to many, Clooney had greater charisma in the famous black suit than either Michael Keaton (who did the first two films) or his immediate predecessor, Val Kilmer. Because it was the fourth film in the series, inevitably some of the element of surprise had gone. But the producers came up trumps with inspired casting, and Clooney was joined by Arnold Schwarzenegger as Mr Freeze, Uma Thurman as Poison Ivy and Alicia Silverstone as Batgirl.

'I did not find it as entertaining as I hoped it would be,' says George. 'I need to examine why that should be. I wouldn't be surprised if it is down to me. I probably ended up missing some beats somewhere and know, in my heart, that I should have given something extra to the role.'

Faced with such sad eyes, it's easy to find yourself offering words of comfort and encouragement. For starters, Batman & Robin was up against some strong opposition last summer. 'Yes, it was the toughest summer for competition,' he concedes. 'But they will end up making around $250million worldwide, and that's a fairly successful film.' Try as you may, it's hard to get George's ego really going.

This is his appeal, of course. The man is easy going, with a maturity that comes with having tried and failed many times before actually making it. There were 14 unsuccessful pilot TV shows and brief stints on a dozen others, before the success of his role as Dr Doug Ross on ER and the belief, at last, that he could attract a cinema audience.

The closest he got before was when he and Brad Pitt were the final two to be considered for the hardbody-cowboy part opposite Geena Davis in Thelma & Louise. As everyone knows, Pitt won. Clooney had to wait until 1995 for the quirky Quentin Tarantino to give him his break in From Dusk till Dawn. Since then, he's had his pick of major Hollywood stars to act alongside, including Michelle Pfeiffer in One Fine Day and Nicole Kidman in The Peacemaker.

'The Peacemaker came first,' he says, 'even though it was released after the other two. It was Thanksgiving in 1995 and I had a script with a cover letter on it, handwritten by Steven Spielberg, who was launching his new company. It said: "This is our first project for DreamWorks. Do you want to do it?"

'I didn't even open the script – I just called him to say yes. I then read the script – thank goodness it was a good one – and framed his letter. Once my film career got started, other roles were offered.'

Clooney is disarmingly modest as to his impact on film: 'I've had moderate success with all of the projects so far – but not great success with any of them,' he says. 'Before the big audience ratings for ER, I would be reading two lines in a movie for a casting director and hoping to get the part. The world has changed for me because of ER and it's no use pretending otherwise.

'I looked on the Batman role as part of that progression. But it's always difficult with a role that has been played before. Truth is, I can't watch Bond without Sean Connery.

'So I went into Batman with eyes wide open. Under the mask, it could have been anyone. The only stunts I performed myself were getting into the suit and walking on to the set.' And what were the highlights? 'Working with Chris O'Donnell as Robin, who is a terrific guy and very open,' he says. 'Like me he's a sports fan and we had some great conversations and laughs. I enjoyed the whole process.'

And will he do another?

'If there is one, they might not want me,' he says, simply. 'I can't point at the director Joel Schumacher, who is my friend, or the writer, or someone else and say "well, this fell short" or "that didn't work", because I really feel it was down to me. I need to take a good long look at what I could have done to make it better before we start talking about the future.'

In the meantime, gorgeous, honest George has made another movie, Out of Sight, in which he plays a prison escapee who falls in love with a federal marshal, played by Jennifer Lopez, after he takes her hostage.

'It's really fun and really smart and I am as excited as hell about it,' he says. He then adds, with typical caution: 'I just hope that I live up to expectations.'

A second telephone line installed free?

... Now there's a thought

Think how much easier things could be with an extra line in your life.

If you are trying to make do with just one line, it may be time to think again.

- Think of someone you'd like to call. Then think twice, because, unless you live alone, you could be waiting some time for the chance to do it

- Think about the times when you can't use the internet because you're expecting a call or holding on for a fax to arrive

Now think about having a second line put in free and saving pounds on your internet call costs as well.

Pre-faxes, pre-email, pre-internet, pre-teenagers even, a single phone line was all you needed. But life moves on. You need the phone twice as much now as you ever did ten or 15 years ago – and it's twice as likely to be engaged when you want it.

Call any 0345, 0645 or 0845 number on your new second line and you'll pay up to 30% less* in the evenings and at weekends.

Your business probably has four times as many lines now as it used to have. But your home may be lagging behind. If you are making do with just one line, now's your chance to have a second line installed completely free of charge – and save up to 30%* on off-peak calls to your internet service provider.

Use your second line to call the internet access service, Cable & Wireless Internet, and the savings will be even more spectacular. Evening and weekend calls to that key 0645 300702 number will be 40% cheaper* on your new line.

You've probably been thinking about a second line. Go for it now and we'll take care of the installation charges ourselves. You'll enjoy all the usual Cable & Wireless advantages – lower bills and better service, 100 minutes of free local evening calls and special packages like UK-Call or SmartCall that suit the way you use your phone. But you won't pay to have the new line put in and you can make big savings on internet access.

Think of the difference that extra line could make. Call us now on 0500 941 940.

* Compared to BT's basic rate on a ten-minute call.
The 2nd line must be on the same tariff as a first line. Both lines receive 100 free local evening minutes every month. Additional free minutes are calculated as normal for single line accounts. Line rental is £7.98 per line including VAT. Applies to residential customers only.

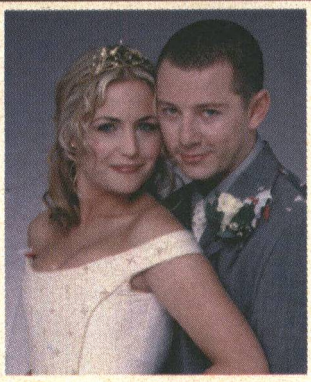
The big match

Nathalie and Dean are tying the knot in 'Dream Team'. But will the wedding be a dress rehearsal for the real-life couple who play the lovers? PAULINE McLEOD finds out. Main photo: MARTIN SALTER



Helen Latham and Darren Morfitt (above) are an item on and off screen. But, so far, proposals and vows have only been exchanged between their 'Dream Team' characters (right)

Sky One

Dream Team
Tuesdays, Wednesdays
6.00pm

FOR Dean Hocknell, it's the climax to a heady season, which has seen as much action off the field as on. But as the Dream Team star player kicks his womanising ways into touch and gazes into his bride's dewy blue eyes, his heart will be thumping.

And if his voice trembles and his hands shake as he slips the wedding band on to Nathalie's finger as they solemnly exchange vows, don't be surprised.

For 24-year-old Geordie actor Darren Morfitt is actually 'marrying' his real-life girlfriend, Helen Latham, who plays Nathalie Moore, the woman who swept him off his feet during a whirlwind romance in Italy.

And as the gorgeous Ms Latham chatters excitedly about the wedding frock, Darren shifts uncomfortably in his seat. He knows which question is coming next!

The couple live together and have been a blissfully happy item since meeting at their north London drama school three years ago, so has this little rehearsal given Helen ideas about getting married?

'No!' comes the emphatic response, followed by such gales of laughter from both of them, it's pretty obvious that marriage is not an issue that's high on their daily agenda.

'We've already had a wedding rehearsal, if you see what I mean,' says Darren. 'I don't think it was the wedding itself that was weird for me, it was just having a ring on my finger, because I'm not a jewellery sort of person. Actually, it fell off.'

Helen, 22, from Preston, Lancashire, a natural-born giggler whose on-screen character is not quite as innocent as she appears (pregnant at 15, with a four-year-old daughter) says, 'I wear a big rock as a prop and every now and then I forget to hand it back at the end of filming.

'We were out with friends and I was showing off the watch that Darren had given me for Christmas, but I was still wearing the prop rock by accident. His best friend went grey and rushed to the other side of the bar yelling, "You idiot, you idiot!" I was laughing my head off.'

Still, there are romantic stars in her eyes as she adds, 'I was hoping for a church wedding, but at least it's a semi-big white wedding. I went with someone from the costume department to a bridal boutique in Watford. It was a dream – spending the morning trying on every single dress in the shop.'

As the series wraps for the summer (a second season begins in the autumn), Darren is having thoughts about his future with the show – to the chagrin of his new 'wife'.

He feels it's time to move on and, although he is still in talks with the producers, it could be that the autumn sees Dean Hocknell on the transfer list again.

'Because I'm his wife, then I'll probably have to go too,' says Helen. 'Which is a shame because I'm new to the series and I'd like to stay.

'But we've talked about it and I'm sure the gamble will pay off. Anyway, if he stayed on Dream Team and was unhappy, he'd be a pain around the house!'

Meanwhile, World Cup fever looms and, of course, Helen will be standing by her soccer-mad man. 'I'm really looking forward to the World Cup on telly. But it'll be quite a laddy thing, so I'll probably end up cooking a lot of pasta.'

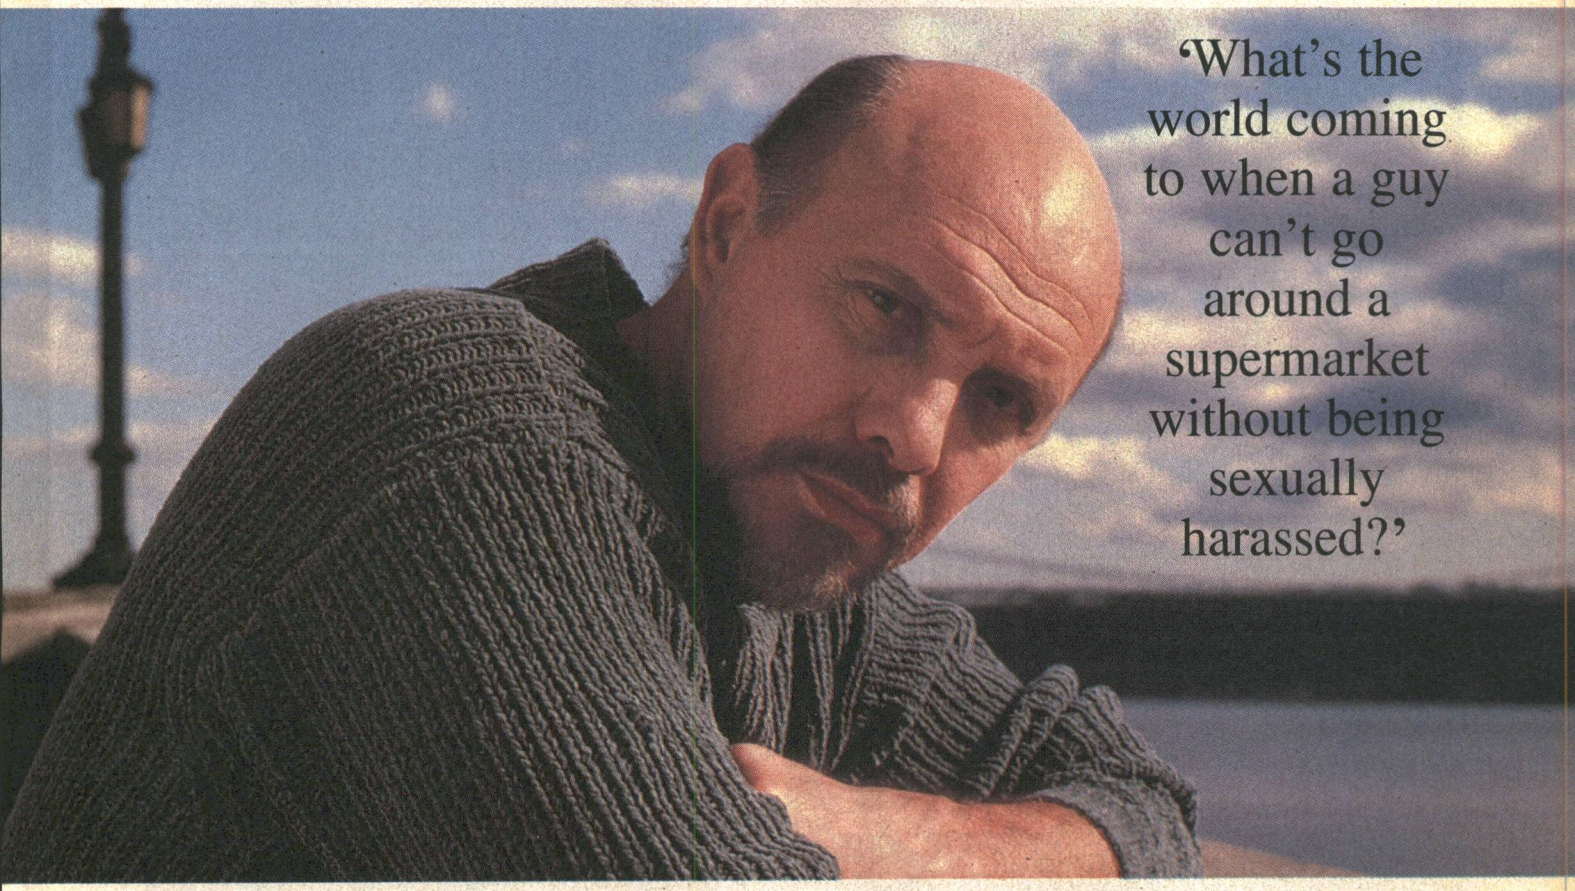
Dr Heartbreaker



A wig and a shave are two ploys used by 'Chicago Hope' star Hector Elizondo to evade his female fans. Interview: Ivan Waterman

Sky One

Chicago Hope
Mondays 10.00pm

PHOTOS: LEN IRISH/OUTLINE/KATZ, 20TH CENTURY FOX

AS a pin-up, he may not quite rival George Clooney, but veteran star Hector Elizondo has had to become something of a Scarlet Pimpernel in order to avoid being stalked by female fans. The bald, bearded American actor scooped a telly Oscar at the last Emmy awards ceremony for his sparkling portrayal of Dr Phillip Watters in the hospital drama series Chicago Hope. And he has become a serious rival heart-throb to Clooney, better known as Dr Doug Ross in the rival medical hit ER (also on Sky One), so much so that Elizondo is getting more than concerned about being 'stalked' in Hollywood.

In order to give women fans the slip, when he's not in the studios he shaves off his beard and covers his head with a selection of wigs. The 61-year-old grandfather revealed: 'Nobody used to pay any attention to me and now, suddenly, there's nowhere to hide.

'I love the success and welcome it, but I never thought the day would come when I'd lose my anonymity. I've been working for 25 years without being bothered by fans.

'Some think this fame thing is a bonus. But I don't think so. So as soon as I stop work on the show I shave off my beard and get myself a hairpiece. I wear all kinds of different disguises. That seems to do the trick, though certain people are extremely persistent.

'What's the world coming to when a guy can't go around a supermarket without being sexually harassed? The weirdest thing is that I was voted sexiest guy on the show by a group of women over here not long ago. I just don't get it.'

Elizondo is one of Hollywood's busiest stars. Apart from his work on Chicago Hope, he previously collected Golden Globe and American Comedy Award nominations for his performance alongside Julia Roberts and Richard Gere in Pretty Woman.

More recently, he starred as a detective hunting airborne serial killer Ray Liotta in Turbulence and got laughs in Romy & Michele's High School Reunion. He even played the romantic lead – 'yes, women actually fought over me' – in the mini-series thriller The Burden of Proof.

Elizondo first gained recognition on the New York stage for his portrayal of God in the comedy Steambath and scooped rave reviews for his part in Neil Simon's The Prisoner of Second Avenue.

Though bald, he sports a well-manicured goatee beard and has a dapper line in informal sporty lounge gear. He is a proud family man and supports numerous Latin causes. But, he confesses, he's not keen on hospitals.

A run-in with his cat, Sybil, recently resulted in a visit to his local hospital. The cat bit him on the hand ('It was all my fault,' he says) and the wound became infected.

'It was not what I would call a pleasant experience,' he says. 'Of all the things I learned while playing a doctor, the main one is not to end up in a hospital. They are not good places to be sick in. People die.'

Elizondo maintains a sense of humour over that incident, as well as his status as a reluctant heart-throb.

'I don't know who all these women suddenly coming out of the woodwork are,' he says, 'but I guess they must have very good taste.'

Feet of clay? Not this time

The French Open may not be Tim Henman's favourite tournament, but this year Britain's tennis hero is looking forward to the challenge. Interview: Ross Biddiscombe

WHEN Tim Henman pitched himself into the glare of Britain's sporting stage at Wimbledon two years ago, he couldn't have expected his ride to be so like a roller coaster.

Reaching the quarter-finals that year earned him a permanent place in our hearts and he sent British tennis into an unfamiliar spotlight. Here was our first home-grown hero for decades. He was good looking, articulate and everyone loved him.

But a rise to number 14 in the world, his first ATP Tour victories and a second Wimbledon quarter-final last year was followed by a run of form that seemed ordinary by his new, higher standards.

When British rival Greg Rusedski reached the US Open final last September and made it into the world's top five, Tim had to fight to stay in the spotlight he'd created.

This season started well with a final in Sydney, but the string of first-round defeats that followed had the critics wondering whether the Henman bubble had burst.

'I'm pretty level-headed about good press and bad press,' Henman says. 'I just got on with working hard on my game and had been hitting the ball really well in practice for three or four weeks before I managed to transfer it into my matches.'

The Lipton Championship in Florida in March was the turning point this season. It's like the fifth Grand Slam title and Henman was the only man to take a set off eventual winner Marcelo Rios, who beat him in the semi-final. But it was the nature of his earlier victories and the calibre of his opponents (including this year's Australian Open champion, Petr Korda) that pleased him.

'I was dictating from the net again at the Lipton and was less cautious, especially about my serve,' Henman says. 'Before that I was finding myself on the baseline too often and I had no confidence.'

The French Open on the clay of the Roland Garros Stadium is a tournament usually dominated by the men who specialise on the sport's slowest surface.

'It rates fourth for me among the Grand Slams because it's a surface I haven't yet played enough on at the highest level,' says Tim. 'Having said that, there is no pressure on me and clay is a surface on which I've had good results in the past.

'I'm really looking forward to it this year because I'll be fully fit and can be aggressive. There's no reason why I can't put a few wins together and who knows what can happen?'

He expects to be preparing in Paris for a whole week before the championship begins. He picks out the world number one and some Spanish names when looking for possible winners.

'Rios has to be a favourite because he's been playing incredible tennis, but the Spaniards, like Alex Corretja, look good and Alberto Berasategui is coming into some form.'

The 23-year-old from Oxfordshire is determined that two consecutive first-round defeats in the French Open won't turn into a trio. It seems his roller coaster career is set for a steady climb.

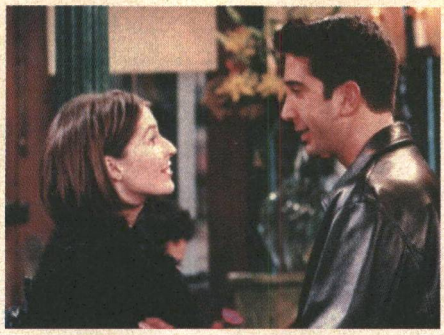
Friends and family

What a momentous year this is for British actress Helen Baxendale! She won a role in 'Friends', her character could steal the show by marrying Ross next month, and motherhood looms in September. Daphne Lockyer reports



Sky One

Friends
Thursdays 9.00pm

THIS has been a big year for Helen Baxendale. It began in January with the surprise revelation that she was joining the cast of Friends and continued in March with the news that she is expecting her first baby.

Life has been turned upside down for this most English and down-to-earth of actresses, who has never before had any experience of acting in the States and had not even begun to contemplate motherhood.

We spoke to her just days before the fateful pregnancy test turned a telltale blue.

'Well,' she was saying, on the subject of children, 'I'm a normal girl and I suppose that, in time, I'll want to do all the things that other normal girls do.' She hadn't realised that 'in time' would mean in September, when the child she expects with her boyfriend, actor David Elliot, is due.

It's not, 29-year-old Helen would be the first to admit, the best timing. But it's a mark of how highly regarded she is as an actress that the makers of Friends, who have already had to change storylines to cope with Lisa Kudrow's real-life pregnancy, are prepared to accommodate Helen.

In March, the entire cast were in England filming a wedding scene that will be part of the very last episode of the series currently being shown on Sky One.

Helen plays Emily, the English niece of Rachel's boss, who manages to captivate the dark haired, puppy-eyed Ross (David Schwimmer) more or less at first sight.

'They did seem to hit it off immediately,' Helen laughs. 'In fact it was only two minutes before she was in bed with him!

'Not that it's just a lust thing. Not at all. There does seem to be something much deeper going on too.'

Until Emily came along, every woman that Ross met was measured up against Rachel – the love of his life – and somehow found wanting.

'But Emily does seem a very strong contender for his affections,' says Helen.

Just how strong becomes plain as the relationship develops – culminating in the wedding scene. The storyline is a closely guarded secret. 'Even the cast don't know what will happen to their characters until the week that they receive the scripts,' says Helen. Still, in this case, it seems likely that she has been fully briefed. After all, her future, as well as the character's, depends on it.

With her baby due just one month after filming of the next series begins, it seems unlikely Helen will return to Los Angeles to continue playing Emily. Insiders suggest the wedding may end in tears, with either Emily, or indeed Ross, being jilted at the altar. 'We're definitely left with a bit of a cliffhanger,' one source reports.

For Helen, who experienced the double whammy of home sickness and morning sickness during filming of the current series, being written out of Friends (for which she was reportedly paid £15,000 an episode) might not be entirely a bad thing.

Even before news of her pregnancy, she was expressing doubts about whether she could base herself permanently in America. 'Being so far from home and knowing that everyone I love is thousands of miles away would not be easy at all. I know that I'd miss too many things about England, especially the irreverence and the sense of humour.'

There is also, of course, the matter of her relationship with David Elliot. The two have been together since 1991, when they met in the Glasgow Citizens Theatre, before Helen became well known for roles in such shows as Cardiac Arrest.

They recently bought a large Georgian house in London and Helen is now back in England working on the latest series of the TV comedy Cold Feet. She has also signed for another in the collection of PD James dramas, An Unsuitable Job for a Woman, in which she stars as private detective Cordelia Gray. Both projects have had to be rewritten to take account of her pregnancy.

She's happy to be home. After all, it can't have been easy for either her or David to be separated when they would have dearly liked to share the excitement of expectant parents. But both understand that separation is an occupational hazard.

'It might be harder for someone who wasn't an actor to accept,' says Helen. 'Though I'm not with David because we're in the same profession. I'm with him because he's him.

'It's difficult to compare, because I haven't been through all the professions romantically, if you see what I mean. It's hard enough just to find someone to love, and when you do you tend to stick with them.'

If her pregnancy now seems likely to end her role in Friends, Helen remains philosophical.

'Whatever happens, Friends will have been a hugely enjoyable experience,' she says. And you can't say fairer than that.

Fast cars and fighting

Samuel L Jackson and Geena Davis star in the explosive thriller, 'The Long Kiss Goodnight'. Ivan Waterman finds out why they were both keen to play 'cops and robbers'

THERE'S something refreshingly honest about Samuel L Jackson when he describes himself as Hollywood's new 'Action Man'. He tilts his black beret to one side as he relaxes in his hotel. 'You know,' he says, wearing a grin as wide as the Mississippi river, 'I got involved in a lot of stuff just for the money, but I really wanted to be doing action films.

'I was doing all this kind of serious thing which was great, but I was getting envious of friends who were shooting people and blowing things up on movie sets.

'So when Pulp Fiction came along, I went for it. I thought: "Ok, now I get to drive fast cars and jump off cliffs and ride horses." Well, some of that has yet to come.

'Every kid likes to play cops and robbers – that's what I did with the other guys on the block.' He roars with glee: 'And I'm still doing it now. Ain't I a lucky guy!'

Which brings us neatly to his part as a washed-up private eye in The Long Kiss Goodnight with 'Action Woman' Geena Davis, which was directed by her husband Renny Harlin.

The story has a Jekyll and Hyde flavour, with mild suburban schoolteacher and single mother Geena recovering from eight years of amnesia to find she's really an ace US government assassin.

She and wisecracking Jackson end up uncovering her past and finding themselves in the middle of a dangerous conspiracy involving rogue White House agents.

Geena, in the dual roles of Samantha Caine and Charly Baltimore, makes a highly credible lethal avenger, while Samuel holds his own playing Mitch Henessy, in a film which also stars Brits Patrick Malahide and Brian Cox.

Like his character in the film, Samuel Leroy Jackson knows what it is to be up against the odds. He still has painful memories of living under segregation as a child in Tennessee. 'There were guns around then,' he says. 'We used them for hunting rabbits and the like. But we knew what they did to people.

'You see a lot of hate. Come to that, you still see a lot of hate. It is a dangerous world – but you have to be positive.'

Sam is now part of Hollywood folklore through his portrayal of Jules, the Bible-quoting hit man in Quentin Tarantino's Pulp Fiction, though he would sooner be remembered for his work on author John Grisham's A Time to Kill, in which he played the father of a girl raped by racists.

He says: 'I've spent 20 years doing this job, but I had to wait until I was 40 for things to really start happening. Now I seem to be playing the kind of characters, in films like Pulp Fiction and Jackie Brown, that I wouldn't want anyone to imitate. If people want to use me as a role model, they should follow me home.'

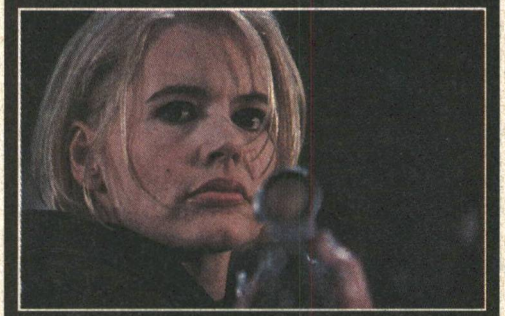
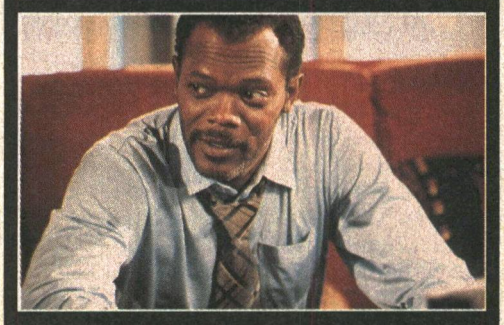
The Long Kiss Goodnight
Saturday 30th, 10.00pm





Ready for action? From top: flying, firing and private eyeing in 'The Long Kiss Goodnight'

His co-star Geena, 41, a former New York model who has since split up with director Harlin, says of the film: 'This was an opportunity to play a really multi-faceted character. It was like playing somebody with a split personality where the two sides were at war.

'One side believes in intimacy, warmth, hope and love, while the other negates everything that has to do with vulnerability. But there was also a real human struggle going on, because I am a woman battling away with an eight-year-old daughter.

'It was a Pandora's box situation, because there was this dimension in the film in which suburbia met the world of espionage.'

She has her hands full coping with an assortment of visual fireworks in The Long Kiss Goodnight, including a hand-to-hand fighting sequence in a mine shaft, where she faced a 100ft drop, car chases, helicopter pursuits and 'surfing' a tanker truck as it slid on its side.

'I needed to look strong, so people would believe I could do all the amazing things I had to do, so I got into martial arts and working-out before we started filming.

'It was crucial for me to develop certain skills and have a natural prowess in handling weapons, so we pulled out all the stops to make sure I looked authentic.

'I went to a shooting range with an expert and learned to handle a variety of combat weapons. I surprised myself at how good I could actually be with a gun.'

The idea of facing up to her fifth decade doesn't seem to be troubling Geena, who won an Oscar earlier in her career for her offbeat performance as dog trainer Muriel Pritchett in The Accidental Tourist and later collected more award nominations for the blockbuster Thelma and Louise, in which she played the unworldly Thelma.

And the tall, striking and still ultra-glamorous Hollywood star, who was born and raised in Massachusetts, believes her best work could well be ahead of her. 'Why not?' she says. 'As a teenager I was told that a lady didn't make waves. I had a very sheltered upbringing.

'I think that I am still maturing – and still learning. Am I happy? On that emotion, I will have to take a rain check. But I am more than getting by.'

From coffee to coffins – Tony takes on the vampires!

Tony Head's move from coffee ads to 'Buffy the Vampire Slayer' was a surprising one. But, as he explains to Neil Murray, 'I've always been fascinated by vampires.' Main photo: Rob Sims

Buffy The Vampire Slayer
Saturdays 8.00pm

AS the school librarian Rupert Giles in Buffy the Vampire Slayer, Tony Head may know what's best when it comes to advising Buffy about battling with vampires, demons and zombies.

But his attempts to get right into the character during the first series were a bit too successful. The rest of the cast were so put off by his smell that they bought him a bottle of Old Spice.

Tony, probably best known in this country for his long-running 'will-they-won't-they?' romance with Sharon Maugham in the Gold Blend coffee adverts, plays the high school librarian with an encyclopedic knowledge of the occult, in the hit series.

And it was his detailed preparation for the part that led to his fellow cast members in Buffy turning up their noses whenever he was around.

'Years ago someone gave me a bottle of aftershave,' laughs Tony, 'and I thought the character I was playing would wear it, so I splashed some on.

'It then became a ritual. Each time I got a part I'd ask myself what smell would suit it.

'When I was looking at Giles, I thought he would wear something really musty, like leather-bound books or old parchment, if they could be bottled. The best I could come up with was moth balls.

'But the wardrobe people took me very seriously and put about six in my jacket, so I'd stand next to people and they'd start to faint.

'That was when I got the bottle of Old Spice from one of the girls.'

Buffy has proved such a winner in the States that filming for the third series starts in July. For Tony, who commutes between Los Angeles and his family at their Regency country house in Bath whenever he has six consecutive days free, it was the strength of the writing that first attracted him.

'I was on my own in an LA restaurant looking at the scripts. I was laughing out loud and getting very embarrassed about people looking at me.

'It's great to play someone like Giles, who is, at times, completely at odds with himself and the rest of the world and, at other times, so comfortable that he's really on the ball.

'Someone once said to me that English actors in America are either asked to play buffoons or villains. Thankfully, Giles is neither. 'He's based on executive producer Joss Whedon's own experiences. He was at a public school in the UK for three years when he did his A-levels and Giles is modelled on two of his masters.

'When I first auditioned for the part, I said I saw him as somewhere between Hugh Grant and Alan Rickman and asked the producers what they had in mind. They said "Fine, somewhere in the middle will be absolutely fine."'

Tony, or Anthony Stewart Head, as he is known in the States, was equally successful with the Americanised version of the coffee ads, which he followed in 1995 with 13 episodes of the sci-fi drama series VR.5.

But it is Buffy that has kept him in work and in the public eye for the past year or so. Tony also has quite a thing about vampires.

'I've always fancied Dracula, I must admit. Vampires have always fascinated me.

'There's a strange sort of mystique about them. They've got this sort of extraordinary power and yet they have great sophistication. I don't know what it is.'

The success of Buffy the Vampire Slayer has meant that he doesn't see as much of his family – girlfriend Sarah, their two daughters, one dog, two cats, three horses, three ponies and a goldfish – as he would like.

'The girls are only seven and nine and it's hard being away from them. This is the longest stint I've ever done away but I've made sure that I've come backwards and forwards as much as I can.

'Lots of people in the States have said to me, "Why don't you move your whole family here?" I thought, "Well, no, England is where they live, this is their house, they go to school here, all the animals are here and Sarah's work is here."

'It's hard, but it would be just as hard if I were working on an oil rig or in the Army.'

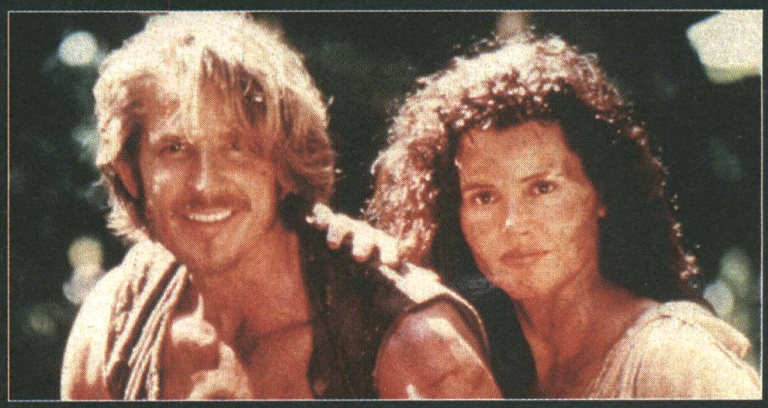
SCREEN TRENDS

Anchors aweigh! IVAN WATERMAN plots a course through the ship-shape films sailing into view this May …



CUTTHROAT ISLAND

This big-budget pirate movie for the Nineties sees Geena Davis set loose on the high seas with a treasure map handed on by her father. With a roguish Matthew Modine as a sidekick, our pouting pirate does battle with a whole crew of bad guys, including Frank Langella, who delivers a piece of masterly lip-curling villainy as her Uncle Dawg, and Patrick Malahide, who plays the scheming Ainslee. The movie may have sunk at the box office, but there's plenty of explosions and swashbuckling action.

SKY MOVIES SCREEN 1 THURSDAY 21ST

TREASURE ISLAND

Wallace Beery plays the definitive Long John Silver, with plenty of 'Arrr … Jim, lad' and squawking parrot on shoulder, in this classic Victor Fleming romp from 1934. 'The Kid' Cooper was a slight disappointment as the unworldly Jim Hawkins, but Lionel Barrymore's performance as shipwrecked recluse Ben Gunn is a real highlight. Everyone from Robert Newton to Orson Welles starred in later versions of Robert Louis Stevenson's epic, but this is the genuine article.

TNT WEDNESDAY 27TH

THE PIRATES OF BLOOD RIVER

Not perhaps one of Hammer's finest hours, but the quirky casting of Christopher Lee (minus his fangs) alongside Oliver Reed (then slim and relatively sensible) is certainly worth more than a glance. The wonderful Scottish actor Andrew Keir adds some dignity to the proceedings, as pirates attack French Huguenots for their gold. It's a swashbuckler with bucket-loads of tomato ketchup and many laughs of the unintentional variety. So beware!

SKY MOVIES SCREEN 2 FRIDAY 8TH

NORDIC ADVENTURE DOUBLE: THE LONG SHIPS / ERIK THE VIKING

The opener is supremely daft, with Richard Widmark miscast as a Viking and Sidney Poitier as a worthy Moorish leader – they come to blows over the possession of a fabulous golden bell. Russ Tamblyn and the luscious Rosanna Schiaffino provide much-needed support in this wonky costume adventure. The second movie on the bill, directed by Monty Python's Terry Jones, was unmercifully keelhauled by the critics. Actually, it had a few funny moments and Tim Robbins is a likeable hero as a man in search of Norse gods. There's also an assortment of cameos from stars such as Eartha Kitt and Mickey Rooney.

SKY MOVIES GOLD SUNDAY 10TH

ANCHORS AWEIGH

A classic Forties musical as shy sailor-on-leave Frank Sinatra heads for Hollywood with pal Gene Kelly, who instructs him in the art of picking up gals. Kathryn Grayson provides the curves in a film which features Oscar-nominated lyrics and music from Jule Styne and Sammy Cahn. Watch out for Kelly's dazzling special-effects driven dance with mischievous mouse Jerry from the Tom and Jerry cartoons. How did they do that? And long before Lucas and Spielberg arrived on the scene.

YOUR GUIDE TO OUT-OF-THIS-WORLD SHOWS ON CABLE. WORDS: PATRICK HOLM

A GATEWAY TO STRANGE NEW WORLDS

THREE years before they brought aliens to Earth, Independence Day creators Roland Emmerich and Dean Devlin sent men to another world. And their 1993 film Stargate, starring Kurt Russell and James Spader, was so successful that a television series, following the adventures of the SG-1 team after the events featured in the big-screen adventure, has now come to Sky One.

In the film, a mysterious horseshoe-shaped object was found in Egypt, with 39 symbols around its edge. It transpired that this was a stargate, a device which allowed people to travel between one world and another.

When Colonel Jack O'Neill led a team of soldiers and scientists through the gate, they discovered Abydos, a world ruled through fear by Ra, who appeared to be the sun god of Egyptian legend. They broke Ra's hold over the world (none of Star Trek's 'hands off and let them get on with it' Prime Directive for these guys), but one of the scientists, Daniel Jackson, fell in love and decided to stay behind on Abydos.

Colonel Jack O'Neill (Richard Dean Anderson, centre) and the team discover new worlds in 'Stargate SG-1'

The TV series picks up a year later when aliens come through the gate. When Colonel O'Neill (now played by Richard Dean Anderson, star of the action series McGyver) goes back to Abydos, he finds that Daniel Jackson (Michael Woods, replacing James Spader) has found a 'map room' which, if utilized correctly, could cause the stargate to transport them all over the universe.

Daniel's wife is kidnapped, so he agrees to help Jack O'Neill investigate the worlds inside the stargate to try to find her. They're joined in the SG-1 team by Amanda Tapping as Captain Samantha Carter, and Christopher Judge as Teal'C, a member of an alien race they meet.

Stargate SG-1 comes to TV courtesy of the men behind The Outer Limits, Brad Wright and Jonathan Glassner. 'The show will take viewers to strange new worlds each week, with different sets for each episode,' says Glassner. Wright adds, 'Through the adventures of SG-1, we will learn more about what it means to be human and how unlimited the future is.'

As the SG-1 team learn, nothing is impossible ...

TIME MACHINE

Blake's 7

52 episodes, originally screened on BBC1, 1978-81
Starring: Paul Darrow (Avon), Gareth Thomas (Blake), Michael Keating (Vila), Sally Knyvette (Jenna), Jan Chappell (Cally), David Jackson (Gan), Steven Pacey (Tarrant), Josette Simon (Dayna), Glynis Barber (Soolin), Peter Tuddenham (voices of Zen, Orac and Slave), Jacqueline Pearce (Servalan), Stephen Greif/Brian Croucher (Travis)

'IT'S Robin Hood in space.' That's how Terry Nation, creator of Blake's 7, sold his sci-fi series to the BBC. Nation was the brains behind the Daleks, Doctor Who's deadly enemies, and his new series rivalled Doctor Who for the intensity of its cult following.

The show charted the adventures of a band of criminals fighting against the evil Federation, normally represented by the slinky Servalan, played by Jacqueline Pearce (right, inset). Four series of 13 episodes were made, with a 20th-anniversary radio play this year reuniting the cast.

It won the hearts of millions for many reasons – it didn't run away from unhappy endings, it told a story that didn't always tie up neatly every week, it had action and romance and, most importantly, it had a great-looking cast.

SUPER LEAGUE – LIVE

Back in the old days of rugby league, this match was of interest to just a few thousand fans on either side of the Pennines on a cold winter's day. But now a live Super League clash between Bradford Bulls and St Helens is watched with fascination on both sides of the equator. The Bulls were last year's dream team and just about invincible at the Odsal Stadium, where tonight's game takes place. But you must never underestimate the Saints, who won the first ever Super League two years ago and won't be happy until they win another one. Inspirational half-back Bobbie Goulding will make sure they are tough to beat tonight.

PLUCK OF THE IRISH

IF Mel Gibson's Braveheart was an epic historical drama about a Scottish hero rising up against the English, Neil Jordan's Michael Collins takes a similar story and relocates it across the Irish Sea. Any film about 'the Irish problem' is bound to be controversial, but Jordan steers clear of soapbox politics and concentrates on the heroic story of Michael Collins, the man. He's helped by a towering performance from Liam Neeson as Collins, the turn-of-the-century freedom fighter. Julia Roberts co-stars as Kitty Kiernan, the love of Collins's life.

THE BITTER END

LONDON'S top rugby union sides, Wasps and Saracens, will be dishing out some capital punishment when they come face to face in the final of the Tetley's Bitter Cup Final at Twickenham. The occasion will be particularly poignant for Saracens's Australian fly-half Michael Lynagh, who retires at the end of the season. But Wasps, led by England captain Lawrence Dallaglio and with forwards like Andy Gomarsall (pictured), will be determined to spoil his grand farewell.

DIVISION ONE PLAY-OFFS – LIVE
Sky Sports 2 12noon
Perhaps the most nail-biting matches of the football season take place each year at Wembley, when two exhausted teams take a 90-minute tightrope walk to death or glory in the divisional play-offs – where the fate of their whole season could be decided by penalties. The two-legged semi-finals, starting today, will decide who will play at Wembley. One of Division One's top three – Middlesbrough, Nottingham Forest and Sunderland – will almost certainly be here, but their form during the season won't help when it comes down to the play-off lottery, when anything can happen, and often does.

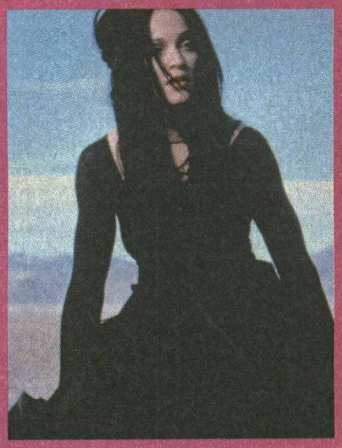
TURN UP THE VOLUME AND TUNE INTO THE MONTH'S BEST MUSIC ON CABLE

WHO'S THAT GIRL?



It's 15 years since an unknown singer called Madonna appeared on Top of the Pops in a candyfloss-pink wig. But then came Like a Virgin, Live Aid and recognition as one of the most important cultural figures in the world. Now, after a short break to give birth to her child Lourdes, the Material Girl turned Earth Mother is back and is VH1's artist of the month. They're showing three of her classic live concerts – 1992's The Girly Show from Sydney, the headline-hitting Blonde Ambition tour from 1990 with those famous conical bras by Jean Paul Gaultier, and finally the Ciao Italia concert from Rome featuring a fresh-faced Madonna way back in 1987. If that hasn't got you into the groove, you can also catch The Greatest Hits of ... Madonna, with the top tunes from her remarkable career.

VH1, from May 2, see daily listings

We have four Madonna long-sleeved T-shirts to give away, courtesy of VH1. For a chance to win, name Madonna's current album. Answers on a postard to Loud Competition, Cable Guide, 172 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0JJ to reach us by 31 May. Usual rules apply.

Robbie burns

With the huge success of Let Me Entertain You, Robbie Williams is red hot right now while his fellow former Take That'ers range from lukewarm to stone cold. His UK tour is a sell out, his Life Thru a Lens album has gone double platinum and he gets an entire day to himself on MTV this month, with exclusive interviews and all his hits.

HOW THE PREMIERSHIP WAS WON
Sky Sports 1 7.30pm
At Christmas, the Premiership looked very much like a one-horse race. At Easter, Manchester United and Arsenal were locked in a fascinating battle of attrition with Andy Cole v Dennis Bergkamp, Ryan Giggs v Marc Overmars and any number of other parallels between the two teams destined for next season's Uefa Champions League. This show recounts the whole nine-month roller coaster ride, which again has held our attention until the final matches. There'll be all the best goals of the year and some of the crowd-pleasing skills that we've learned to love from our continental friends.

The Emerald Tiara Ring

Emerald the Birthstone for May - An Ideal Birthday Gift

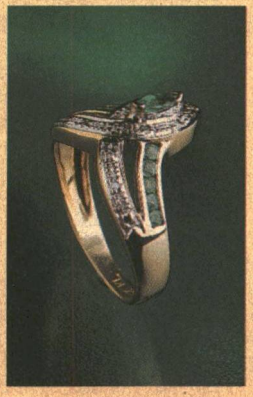
Reflecting the Ancient glory of the Emerald Isle, and the fire and ice of a proud Celtic tradition, we are proud to present a totally original and remarkable work of art, two of the most valuable jewels in the world have been beautifully combined, in a solid gold setting, to form the Emerald Tiara Ring. Perfect as a gift, as a token of everlasting love, or even as an investment for the future, the Emerald Tiara Ring is a magnificent example of craftsmanship from the Master Jewellers, Stewarts of Knightsbridge.

Emeralds, from the mountains of South America, were traditionally supposed to ward off evil spirits, cure ailments of the digestion, and protect the chastity of the wearer! Diamonds, of course, are forever - the most beautiful and enduring of gems.

Taking its inspiration from the ancient traditions of Celtic arts and crafts, the Emerald Tiara Ring features a symbolic golden knot, outlined in diamonds, with a magnificent emerald at its centre. These most precious of jewels, eleven stones in total, are brilliant green and ablaze with light. To each side of the central gemstone, emeralds are also channel-set to form an espalier, allowing the true depth of colour and richness to be displayed to full advantage.

Ten individual diamonds are set around the thread of the 'knot', and the rich colour of the solid 9-carat gold setting provides a stunning contrast to the jewels, completing the tiara effect.

This is a dazzling and distinctive example of the jeweller's art, made even more appealing as it is only available from Stewarts of Knightsbridge, in a limited edition of just 900, and cannot be purchased from any retail outlet.



Now it can be yours, or a gift for the one you love, fully hallmarked and accompanied by a Certificate of Authenticity to make a precious heirloom that can be passed through each generation. Attractively displayed in an individual presentation case, the Emerald Tiara ring costs just £325.00, payable in ten easy instalments - but you need send no money now.

To Order - Send No Money Now - Your ring will be personally commissioned as soon as you order, and will be sent to you as soon as we receive your first payment of £32.50. Thereafter, you pay a further nine interest-free, monthly instalments of £32.50 each. SPORT

MOTORCYCLING – LIVE
Eurosport 12noon

It's the Italian Grand Prix from Mugello this weekend, but today we can enjoy what many fans see as just as much fun as the race itself – the qualifying practice. We start off watching the 125cc and 250cc men at noon, before switching to the big boys from the 500cc category at 1.00pm. In the 250cc session, local hero Valentino Rossi will be among the favourites at a circuit where he won last year in the less powerful 125cc category. Australian Michael Doohan on a Honda is the defending champion at 500cc and won here in 1997 with the help of his closest rivals, who all fell. Doubtless, he'll be hoping for similar luck this time round.

TENNENTS SCOTTISH CUP FINAL – LIVE
Sky Sports 1 2.00pm
We go Cup Final crazy today, with all the previews and match action from Wembley and Celtic Park. Sky Sports's coverage of their first live FA Cup Final starts at 6.00am this morning and the game itself, between Arsenal and Newcastle, has the makings of a classic. North of the border, Rangers's clash with Hearts looks equally attractive, but just as difficult to predict. The two matches will have more cameras and comment than ever, to mark the first time cable TV has seen both games live. Here's hoping that they live up to all the hype.

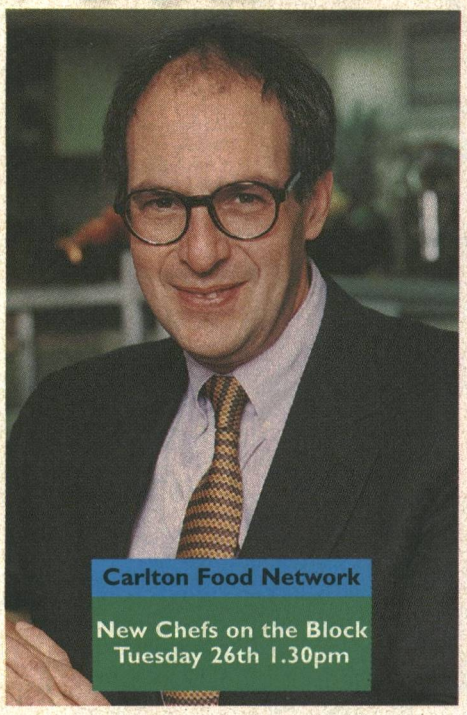
FOOD



Best of British

THE rising stars of the restaurant world come under the eagle-eyed scrutiny of Loyd Grossman in the 13-part series New Chefs on the Block. Loyd will be chewing over, deliberating and, no doubt, digesting his way into some of the country's finest eating establishments, including London's Oxo Tower, Winchester's Hotel de Vin and Leeds's Rascasse, where he'll follow the chefs through a typical day. They'll prepare their speciality for Loyd's expert opinion – and he's bound to think at least one of them is 24-carat. Mark Edwards, head chef at Japanese restaurant Nobu, in London, offers Loyd a fried fish creation called Hariaki, garnished with caviar and real gold leaf. Now that's what we call indulgence!

Variety show

THOSE flamboyant, freewheeling chefs Greg and Max are back with a new series of their Cookabout show, which takes them all over the UK in search of unusual and interesting cuisine. Among the tasty treats in the series are visits to a Ghanaian restaurant to sample West African food and Britain's first gourmet vegetarian restaurant, in Brighton. The duo will also be finding the top nosh in the pubs of London's East End, checking out how to avoid piling up the calories at Champneys health retreat and getting caught up in the Chinese New Year celebrations. Tasty!

These tasty Indian snacks are a favourite of Greg and Max

Savoury Doughnuts

Ingredients

1 cup plain flour, sieved
4fl oz natural yogurt
2 medium onions, chopped
4 green chillies, deseeded and finely chopped
1/2 tsp fresh ground black pepper
1 dessertspoon desiccated coconut
pinch of cumin seeds
salt to taste
oil for deep frying

Method

1. Mix together all the ingredients, except the oil.
2. Heat the oil until it is almost smoking, reduce the temperature, then drop in spoonfuls of the mixture.
3. Cook in small batches until golden brown.
4. Drain on kitchen paper and serve with a dipping sauce or chutney – or just good old tomato ketchup!

MAY BIRTHDAYS
1st Joanna Lumley ● 10th Billy Joel ● 23rd Joan Collins ● 28th Kylie Minogue

Gemini♥♥
22 May-21 June

YOUR FEELINGS for someone could come into sharper focus soon. If your birthday falls late May, an emotional dilemma will be resolved mid-month. But June Geminis may have to wait a little longer for love to finally flourish.

Cancer♥♥
22 June-23 July

YOUR SIGN does not usually fall victim to the greener grass syndrome, but feelings of discontent will dog you this month. Turn this energy to your advantage by making subtle yet significant changes to your lifestyle.

Leo♥♥
24 July-23 August

WITH SATURN still hovering overhead, you will want tangible rewards for your efforts. As a consequence, all your romantic and professional pursuits are likely to be made with an ulterior motive in mind.

Virgo♥♥♥
24 August-23 September

YOU MAY receive a wake-up call in your love life, or a golden opportunity will suddenly present itself at work. Keep your eyes and ears open and follow your heart when making any major decisions.

Libra♥♥
24 September-23 October

THE UNWELCOME advances of an admirer or colleague may place you in a vulnerable position. Try to steer clear of people who wish to take advantage of your loving nature and mix instead with those you trust.

Scorpio♥♥♥
24 October-22 November

DURING THIS feel-good month, some of you may acquire a taste for creature comforts, while others revel in a delicious new romance. All signs point towards happier times financially, emotionally and health wise.

Sagittarius♥♥
23 November-22 December

THE OBJECT of your desire may prove elusive during May, but you can get a head start by being practical. Lay solid foundation stones this month and you'll be like the cat that swallowed the cream by mid year.

Capricorn♥♥♥
23 December-20 January

THOSE LONELY hearts who have been searching for love will delight in a romantic escapade this month. Mars rewrites the script and finally gives unassuming Capricorns a starring role in their own passionate production.

Aquarius♥♥
21 January-19 February

EMOTIONAL AND financial security go hand-in-hand, making powerful and influential people more attractive than the losers. Just be careful you don't turn into a snob, or judge others simply by their net worth.

Pisces♥♥
20 February-20 March

SOMEONE WHO turned your world upside down last year will either re-enter your life or make a commitment. And while you may be tempted to opt for emotional security, travel and excitement still beckon for your sign.

Aries♥♥
21 March-20 April

JUPITER MAKES you more optimistic, but cautions against taking too many risks. You may have a tendency to take others at face value this month and put your trust in people or situations with little substance.

Taurus♥♥
21 April-21 May

THE MERGER of Sun and Mars is both a blessing and a burden. On the one hand it makes you alluring, but on the other it turns you into a tease. Flirtation may be fun for singles but could be fatal for committed bulls.

SPORT

CYCLING – LIVE
Eurosport 2.30pm
It's the second day of the Tour of Italy, which is just six years younger than the Tour de France and with a roll call of winners – including the likes of Eddy Merckx and Miguel Indurain – which is just as prestigious. Eighteen teams, each with nine cyclists, will be taking part in the 22 stages over nearly 4000 kilometres, with almost half the race taking place in mountain country. The remarkable Alex Zülle, riding with the Festina team, is probably the man to beat, while local heroes like Marco Pantani (riding for Mercatone Uno) won't be far behind. Today is a 162-kilometre ride, which should help to settle the field.

SPORTRAITS
Sky Sports 1 6.30pm

Good idea for sports fans to look at the careers of a couple of superstars. Today's duo have nothing in common except their incredible ability within their chosen sports. Wayne Rainey dominated 500CC motorcycling at the start of the Nineties, his dare-devil skills taking the sport to a new level and winning him three world championship titles. For Brits, Jürgen Klinsmann was just another great German player, until his first spell at Tottenham turned him into a Premiership legend. Once more back at White Hart Lane, his aims are to stop Spurs from being relegated, and to claim a second World Cup winners' medal in France this summer.

INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL
Eurosport 10.30am, 10.30pm

When Argentina and Chile meet on the football field, the word friendly doesn't spring to mind – dogfight or battle seem more appropriate. Still, that's how this match in Buenos Aires has been billed, as the two countries warm up for the World Cup. Argentina are always among the favourites for the major tournaments and with Gabriel Batistuta leading their attack, this year is no exception. Meanwhile, the way Chile and Marcelo Salas dispatched England 2-0 at Wembley earlier this year means that they can't be discounted in any match. There's never much between the two teams, although Chile won the last encounter 2-1 in September.

SPORT

INTERNATIONAL CRICKET – LIVE
Sky Sports 1 10.30am, 3.00pm
England are back in action and this time the South Africans are going to take a considerable pounding. OK, so forget the pounding, but this first one-day match in the Texaco Trophy series should be a close contest at the Oval. There'll be a new captain for England and the team will need an early confidence-booster after losing the recent one-day series against the West Indies. However, Hanse Cronje's team have the likes of Allan Donald, the world's fastest bowler, to take up the cudgels. The first match in the series sets the tone in any sport and neither side will want to come out of this as losers.

CARTOON NETWORK

5.00am-9.00pm Scooby Weekender
If you're a fan of the late-sixties and seventies cartoon favourite Scooby-Doo then you are in for a real treat and a half today. Grab yourself a Scooby snack and settle back for a 16-hour fix of comic crime-busting with the iconic, cowardly canine and his adventure-hungry human companions: the goateed slacker Shaggy; the bookish Velma in her specs, roll-kneck sweater and knee-length brown socks; the delectable, mini-skirted Daphne; and the cravat-sporting blond hunk Fred.
Although the loveable doggy detective is somewhat inept in his methods, he always manages to get to the bottom of the shows' spooky goings-on – which invariably revolve around dastardly villains disguised as spooks, monsters or ghouls – and also finds time to devour whole mountains of junk food.
From its debut appearance in 1969, Scooby-Doo was a huge hit, commanding viewing figures that have never been equalled by any Saturday morning children's show, and when the gang leaped out of the Mystery Machine to crack their final crime in 1991, it held the distinction of being the longest-running cartoon series in television history.

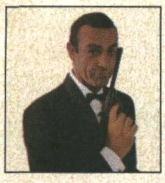
THE JAMES BOND 007™ ASTON MARTIN DB5

A collector-quality replica of James Bond's most memorable secret weapon!



"The most famous car in the world", now an incredibly detailed, completely authentic die-cast metal replica Scale 1:24; 7½" in length.

Do not confuse this replica with the much smaller toy version that lacks many of the superlative features of this exclusive Danbury Mint model

The front and rear number plates rotate.

Now, you can acquire a superbly detailed 1:24 scale die-cast metal replica of the most glamorous – and menacing – spy car ever...The James Bond 007 Aston Martin DB5.

James Bond dispensed oil from the opening tail lights.

PRECISION CRAFTED FROM MORE THAN 300 INDIVIDUAL PARTS

There's even a working ejector seat!

Nothing can prepare you for the incredible number of working parts on this spectacular replica! Open the roof panel and watch the ejector seat actually fly through the roof with the flick of a switch!

The bullet-proof shield inside the boot pops up. Both number plates rotate to display three different plate numbers. Machine guns protrude from the front indicators. A tyre slasher slides out of the left rear wheel hub. And the rear tail lights open so Bond can use his "oil dispenser" to ward off his pursuers!

Working "rams" can be pulled out of both the front and rear bumpers. You will also see other wonders like an opening control console between the seats, and even a miniature compartment in the driver's door containing a tiny removable telephone handset attached to a hair-thin wire!

More authentic moving parts!

The bonnet opens to reveal the meticulously replicated six-cylinder engine. Both doors open to reveal the interior with its genuine leather seats and operating sunvisors. The steering wheel turns the front wheels and all four wheels spin freely.

The tiny radio aerial slides up and down smoothly. Underneath you will discover working front and rear suspension systems. The replica is precision painted, waxed and polished to the most exacting standards.

Attractively priced; convenient to acquire

You can acquire The James Bond 007 Aston Martin DB5 for just £99, payable in four convenient monthly instalments of £24.75.

The opening console panel and dashboard details (with tiny radar screen) are accurately re-created.

Scooby Weekender
If you're a fan of the late-sixties and seventies cartoon favourite Scooby-Doo then you are in for a real treat and a half today. Grab yourself a Scooby snack and settle back for a 16-hour fix of comic crime-busting with the iconic, cowardly canine and his adventure-hungry human companions: the goateed slacker Shaggy; the bookish Velma in her specs, roll-kneck sweater and knee-length brown socks; the delectable, mini-skirted Daphne; and the cravat-sporting blond hunk Fred. Although the loveable doggy detective is somewhat inept in his methods, he always manages to get to the bottom of the shows' spooky goings-on – which invariably revolve around dastardly villains disguised as spooks, monsters or ghouls – and also finds time to devour whole mountains of junk food. From its debut appearance in 1969, Scooby-Doo was a huge hit, commanding viewing figures that have never been equalled by any Saturday morning children's show, and when the gang leaped out of the Mystery Machine to crack their final crime in 1991, it held the distinction of being the longest-running cartoon series in television history.

FIRST DIVISION PLAY-OFF FINAL – LIVE
Sky Sports 2 2.00pm
The one Wembley play-off final which can truly be worth a fortune. Victory and the millions from the Premiership are yours, lose today and your club will start to lose sight of the rich cousins in the league above. The three First Division leaders for so long this year – Middlesbrough, Nott'm Forest and Sunderland – can't all fit into the two automatic places, so whoever has to contest the play-offs will start as favourite. Dark horses could be Ipswich, however, who have looked impressive against some good opposition this year and have a good manager in George Burley to inspire them.

SPORT

INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL – LIVE
Sky Sports 2 5.00pm
More World Cup warm-up action as England play in the King Hassan Cup in Casablanca. Today's match pits them against Morocco and will be far from easy, as the African nations have been climbing the world rankings steadily for more than a decade.

Time for more experiments for England coach Glenn Hoddle or a run-out for his starting eleven? A lot depends on injuries and end-of-season exhaustion for some of his Manchester United and Arsenal players in particular, who were still battling to win the Premiership earlier this month. We all want a morale-boosting win, though, that's for sure.

Get £300 a week

to stay in bed

Plus, for just £2.80, you can spend a weekend in any of these hotels every month

What's the catch? There isn't one. It's even better than it sounds. You can go fishing, swimming, horse-riding, play golf, tennis, work out in the gym or just have a massage and relax. You also receive a range of health benefits from your United Patients policy.

- You get paid too – £1,200 a month when you're in hospital (£600 when recovering at home) – no matter how many claims you make and whatever the injury or illness. This is completely tax free.
- United Patients guarantee that your monthly payment will remain at only £12.13 (£2.80 p/w) until your 60th birthday.
- If you go into hospital, United Patients will pay for a single room with en-suite bathroom and toilet where available.
- Then there's the Hospital Waiting List Hotline, Healthline and Library Service for up-to-date information on any condition.
- There's even a free Will Service.

All you have to do is return the completed direct debit or credit-card form below. We will then send you the list of hotels and brochures with FREE accommodation (you only pay for breakfast and meals). We'll also send you your plan to study for 30 days together with your vouchers and passes.

When you study the plan you will see what good value it is. We won't debit your account for 30 days – even if you decide to cancel the direct debit before the first payment, you still get one free break – and we will refund your money if you're not completely satisfied with your accommodation or any aspect of the plan.

What are you waiting for? Pick up a pen, fill in the form and start planning your first free weekend away.

UNITED PATIENTS

Please send me my membership card, brochure and policy details which I agree to examine within 30 days. I understand that no money will be taken from my credit card or bank account until the 30 days have elapsed. Whether or not I agree to continue with your hospital insurance, I will receive a voucher entitling myself and my partner to a free accommodation weekend in any one of more than 100 hotels (breakfast and dinner will be charged). I further understand that if I continue with your plan for just £12.13 a month I may enjoy a weekend away at any of the hotels in your directory every month. (You must be between 18 and 60 to apply.)

ATHLETICS – LIVE
Eurosport 7.00pm

With no Olympics or World Championships for the top track and field athletes this year, the IAAF Grand Prix meetings take on extra significance. Today, we go LIVE to Seville in Spain, for the fourth round of the Grand Prix II series. Since the Barcelona Olympics in 1992, the Spanish have developed a large group of world class athletes, including national hero and Olympic gold medalist Fermin Cacho, who ran a personal best in the 3000 metres here last year. Another good contest at that meeting was the discus, with German Olympic champion Lars Riedel lossing out to Lithuania's Virgilijus Alekna after a titanic struggle.

'Team' works
I WOULD just like to say how brilliant I think Sky One's Dream Team is. I watch every episode that's on during the week, and then watch the omnibus on Sundays because I think it is so good. The cast are all superb actors.

Village people
I AM just writing to tell you how much I enjoyed the programme Saturday Stack: On the Road Again [Discovery Channel, 7 March]. It was a most enjoyable four hours of excellent television. The scene of the two gay travellers, dressed as a stiltwalker and juggler, and the joy and happiness as they went through their act for the villagers, made for first-class viewing.

Keep taking the 'Hills'
PLEASE can you inform me when the new series of Beverly Hills, 90210 and Melrose Place will be returning to Sky One. At the end of the last series in the autumn, we were told that they would be returning early this year. Please, please, please bring them back soon.

Miss H Boyle
Waterlooville

● Sky replies: 'The new series of Beverly Hills, 90210 starts on 17 May. As for Melrose Place, it hasn't been scheduled yet, but we are hoping to bring the series back by the autumn.'

Old comfort farm
WE are a retired couple, and have had so much pleasure since we had cable TV installed. The amount of comedy shown is simply wonderful – we enjoy it so much, we put many of the shows on tape. But the series we are devoted fans of is Emmerdale [Sky Soap]. We watch every single one and get great pleasure in seeing so much first-class acting. Emmerdale is so much better in every way than the present soaps.

Nice warrior
THAT Xena, you can't keep her out of things for long, can you? I refer to Bethany Lowe's letter in the March edition of Cable Guide [No sexism, please ...]. Bethany clearly has some reservations about the show, but for me it is the best thing on television. There are so many themes and ideas packed into the series that a wide range of people can enjoy it. Indeed, one of the key messages is that women can control their own destiny without being dependent on male support. Another important theme is the problem of guilt and how to deal with it. Xena's past misdeeds are constantly coming back to trouble her and tempt her to revert to her old wicked ways. She is fortunate that her companion, Gabrielle, is around to help keep her on the right track.

That sinking feeling
THANK you, thank you, thank you for showing The Making of 'Titanic' on Sky Movies Screen 1 on Sunday 15 March. I was absolutely delighted when it came on. I've seen the movie twice now and will be seeing it a third time. Thank you so much for making my weekend.

Wild about the West
CABLE TV has brought back a lot of great British programmes such as Sherlock Holmes, Poirot and Fawlty Towers, but there is a whole generation who miss the TV cowboys. In 1959 there were over 40 TV cowboy series, such as Wagon Train, Bonanza and, my favourite, The Rifleman. Directors such as Sam Peckinpah and actors such as Clint Eastwood, Steve McQueen and Charles Bronson all began their careers here. How about a channel bringing back those days of boots and saddles?

Cut it out!
I AM a big fan of Married ... with Children on Sky One, but am getting very annoyed by bits of the programme being cut out. Could you tell me why this is? It was cut so badly in one episode that five minutes must have been lost, and it totally ruined my enjoyment of it. If it's being cut because bits are not suitable for primetime television, then why not put it on after 9.00pm?

Dean Felton
Wolverhampton

● Sky replies: 'Unfortunately, cuts do have to be made because of the show's early time slot at 12noon and 6.30pm on weekdays. However, from Saturday 2 May at 10.30pm, you'll be able to see the full versions of episodes considered too raunchy for daytime viewing.'

Simpsons violence too much!
I AM writing to complain about The Simpsons episode entitled Itchy & Scratchy Land, broadcast on Sunday 22 February on Sky One. I usually find The Simpsons an entertaining show, but found myself having to turn over in disgust after the violence I witnessed. This was due to the 'in-cartoon' Itchy & Scratchy. My children saw this at 6 o'clock in the evening. In my view, this is way too early for that sort of violence. I agree cartoon violence is more acceptable (ie Tom and Jerry) and I am not normally such a prude, but I found these particular scenes revolting, too graphic and in bad taste. Do the makers of The Simpsons now have to rely on so-called 'schlock horror' to gain viewers?

Think twice, VH1
THERE was a Celine Dion day on VH1 on Thursday 5 March and I was really looking forward to taping the videos and concert. But as I was recording the Ten of the Best at 12noon, there was not one single video that wasn't interrupted by the captions which appeared below. They went on and on right through the programme, plus on every Celine Dion video throughout the day. I am very annoyed, and am sure many other Celine Dion fans feel the same. Please could this unnecessary captioning be stopped? Could you also let me know if Celine Dion's Ten of the Best could be repeated in the near future.

Mr S Alexander
Crosbie

● VH1 replies: 'These captions were part of a competition, with Celine's latest album up for grabs. The response we received was phenomenal, so we can only conclude that many viewers also enjoyed this opportunity to win prizes. Celine Dion's Ten of the Best will be repeated without captions on Friday 5 June at 10.00pm.'
